JUNE PICTURES.

June's glorious sun unclouded shines, And not a bud unopened lingers; The roses laugh, and 'mid their vines The golden petaled egiantines Tangle their fragrant fingers, The epanletted blackbird sings
His love-song in the rushy m adows,
And orioles on flaming wings

Dart through the orchard openings, And fissh into the shadows.

Afar the lake, a silver sheet Ghrilled with swells of green, lies sleeping; The brooks that in its bosom meet I see not, but their foam-shod feet I hear the ledges leaping.

In groups beneath the pasture trees, Full fed the cows lie drowsing; The locust groves alive with bees, With song like that of summer seas, Among the blooms carousing.

Young quail are whistling in the brake (Each day their faltering notes grow firmer), The kingbirds cheerful music make, And doves the woodland echoes wake With soft and amorous murmur.

Sweet is the nountide of the year,

That growns the world with chaplets floral,
flick the old Eden re-appear,
And makes a perfumed atmosphere
With living music choral.

Leave your dull haunts, ye human moles, Blindly for sordid treasures mining; By verdorous paths seek brighter goals, And wreathe around your jaded souls The garlands June is twining. Prioleau vs. The United States.

The Atlantic Telegraph announced on the 31st It, that the appeal of Prioleau had been admitted a the English Courts. This case relates to a aim by this Government to certain bales of coton, contributed by the people of Texas to the late ocalled Confederate Government, and now claimable Prioleau. The case was before Vice Changley Court of the ed by Priolean. The case was before vice Chan-cellor Wood on the 30th ult., on exceptions by the defendant to the cross bill of Messrs. Fraser, Tren-holm & Co., which was filed for the purpose of ob-taining discovery in aid of their defence to the original bill of the United States, the plaintiffs

The Court overruled the first and fourth excep-

The Court overruled the first and fourth exceptions on the ground that the party interrogating, although entitled to obtain information from his opponent as to his own title, could not compel a discovery of that which related to the opponent's title. The second and third exceptions were admitted. As to the second exception, the Court said the answer was insufficient:

"They might deny that by the law of each one of the separate States bona vacantia belonged to the government of the separate States, and yet the proposition might be correct with regard to Texas. The general denial might be quite true, but the plaintiffs were entitled to a specific answer to the particular inquiry."

As to the third exception, the Court thought the United States had no put in a sufficient answer. The Vice Chancellor said:

It was of the utmost importance to the plaintiffs in the cross suit that they should know whether the persons from whom they had acquired the cotton in question were regarded by the United States as a body of men who had violently and by force of arms exacted contributions and seized mon property, which they employed against the United States, or whether there was a de facto Government by which these acts of authority were exercised in the Southers States. He thought it was a mistake in law to allege that this Court had no power to recognize a de facto Government. was a market to recognize a de facto Government.
The Court had power to take judicial cognizance of such a Government, and without pretending to decide whether or not its acts were legal according to American law, it was bound to ascertain wheth to American raw, it was bound to ascertain whether its acts were carried on by a constituted authority, and not by a body of rebels acting in a sporadic and fittul manner.

The case was therefore adjourned, and comes up for further action.—Commercial Advertiser.

A Transarous Gux.—The experimental firing of the 20-inch gun which took place not long since as Fort Hamilton, shows that we possess a transactions weapon of war which no foreign vessel can withstand. But this trial also showed that our ordnance officers hitherto have been handling their monatrons cannon in the daintiest and most gingarly fashion. The charges used were, first shot, 125 pounds of "mammoth grain" powder; second shot, 150 pounds; third shot, 175 pounds; fourth shot, 200 pounds. The result, which was highly successful, puts to shame some of our officers, we think, for not finding out carlier the hidurance of these monstrous smooth bores. They have long been engaged in dry-nursing or wearing these guns with a kind of drugged powder, alministered in homeopathic doses. The Monitor's 15-inch guns were not allowed to be used with over thirty-five pounds of powder, and to that cause alone is attributable the fact that she did not make a prize of the Merrimac in Hampton Boads. The service charge then fixed at thirty-five pounds has been raised till thus reached sirty pounds, and, if we mistake not, since the war no less than 100 pounds have been safely used in the 15-inch gun. It is strange that we had this splendid weapon so many years before venturing to find out what it would stand in the way of a prectical service charge. The 20-inch guns, too, we have employed for reveral years, and until the late trials at Fort Monroe and Fort Hamilton, we know nothing about them. One was mounted in New York harbor some time since; and a great time made over the feat them achieved with it, which was to put down its enormous throat 100 pounds of patent powder for a charge. This charge bore so small a proportion to the calibre of the cannon that the attilier its had to support the powder by introducing it on "mattresses of straw" (to quote the report), so as to field it up to the vent. And now we have 200 pounds of powders, if w apins wonders, I we will be give them a change; it is, there is something startling in the very light of a projectile weighing no less than 1080 nds, driven by the explosive power of a mass 00 pounds of powder. It is a token of Titanic have to come.—N. Y. Times.

A SHOOKING AVEAUR.—One week ago last Friday, in the night time, some person or persons managed to steal a barrel of high wines from the bonded warehouse at Sterling, in this State. The warehouse is situated on the top of a hill, at the bottom of which is a settlemast composed of the poorer classes of Irish people. The robbery was doubtless perpetrated by some parties belonging to this settlemant, as the barrel of spirits was rolled down the declivity and into the middle of the collected abina. The barel was probably stolen under the impression that it contained whisky, and not a liquid registering seventy-five above proof. Animated by this belief, nearly the entire number composing the settlement gathered about the barrel, which had been broken open, and proceeded to fall cans, pails and cups with the liquid. This was distributed among the poor people and their chil-A SHOCKING AFFAIR.—One week ago last Friday, rel, which had been broken open, and proceeded.

All cans, pails and cups with the liquid. This was distributed among the poor people and their children, and by them most heartily partaken of. The effect was as might be imagined. Every one who had infulged in the flery stuff was taken violently ill. In a short time two thirds of the people were writhing in agony. Men, women and children lay here and there, groaning with pain, vomiting freely and tortured with the burning of the ardent fluid. Not all recovered. One little child died from the effects of the liquor, and three or four others were for a long time dangeronsly ill. The prevailing sickness attracted the attention of the authorities, and an investigation was instituted, which resulted in the discovery of the robbery.—Charlotte (N. C.) Times.

ANOTHER MURDER.—We learn that a brutal murder was committed on Frilisy night last, near Station 73 Atlantic and Gulf Railroad, at the turpentine distillery of Messrs. Miller & Brother.

Mr. W. S. Flim, of Washington County, N. C., was keeping a store at that place, and about 10 o'clock that night, while he was sitting in his store, two negroes, who had formed a plan to murder and rob him, came in, and one of them, named Green Jackson, struck him three times on the head with a hatchet, mangling it fearfully. They then took out a quantity of provisions, tobacco, &c., and made for the swamp, after setting the store on fire.

saw the store on fire, with the unfortunate deceased still sitting in the chair and his head cut to piecos. They also saw the two negroes with bags of plunder, making for the swamp. They immediately ran and told the overseer, who gathered his force and went to the scene. By the time he got there the roof had fallen in.

He immediately started in pursuit of the nur-

He immediately started in pursuit of the midderers, and soon caught them. One of them, Joe Williams, confessed the facts, but Jackson was stabborn, and it was not until the negroes had put a rope round his neck and ran him up five times a rope round his neck and ran him up five times that he acknowledged his guilt. The negroes on the plantation, about 100 in number, were very much incensed against the murderers, and it was only by the utmost persuasion on the part of the few white men present that they were prevented from burning them alive. The culprits were finally secured and lodged in jail at Blackshear.

Mr. Flinn was very much liked by all in the neighborhood. After the fire his remains were gathered and property interred.—Savannah Advertiser.

I consider Chickering & Sons' Pianos, beyond com-parison, the best I have ever seen in America.

THALBERG.

I consider Ohickering & Sons' Pianos superior to any in the world.

They are unrivalled for their singing qualities and for the harmonious roundness of their tone. There is a the harmonious rounaness of their tone. There is a perfect homogeneity throughout all the registers. The upper notes are remarkable for a clearness and purity which I do not find in any other instrument, while the base is distinguished for power without harshness, and for a magnificent sonority.

WEHLL.

Your Plance are superior to any I have ever seen in I have never heard a tone so perfect; it yields every expression that is needed in music, and its quality is capable of change to meet every sentiment. This is a rare power, and is derived from the perfect purity of its tone, together with its sympathetic, elastic and well balanced touch.

POZNANSKI.

During the past eight years I have constantly played upon the justiy celebrated Erard Pianos; yours are the only instruments that I have found, either here or in Europe, to equal them in all their points of excellence. It may be satisfactory to our patrons and friends among the publicat large to state that testimonials have been received from all the leading artists who have visited or are now residing in the United States, a few of whose names, besides those above, we append:
